Local Advisory Committee Involvement and Influence with New Hampshire Legislation

Local Advisory Committees Can Influence State Laws

While Local Advisory Committees (LACs) are not required to provide testimony on proposed legislation, they have the opportunity to provide such testimony as an organized group of individuals who are dedicated to ensuring the conservation, preservation, and overall wellbeing of their river and/or watershed. While all New Hampshire citizens have the opportunity to provide their opinions on legislation, LACs have a stronger voice as organized committees authorized under state law to advise the NHDES commissioner and the New Hampshire Rivers Management Advisory Committee (RMAC) on the management of their rivers.

How Does the LAC Find River Management-related Bills?

The NHDES Rivers Management and Protection Program maintains a legislative tracking spreadsheet on the RMAC forum. As part of its advisory duties, the RMAC and RMAC’s Policy and Legislation Subcommittee routinely track and comment on legislation relative to the Rivers Program itself, legislation affecting designated rivers, legislation specific to the Instream Flow Program, and legislation affecting rivers and watersheds in general.

NHDES is also actively involved in New Hampshire legislative activities relating to natural resources and the environment. Each year, NHDES tracks bills that relate to NHDES programs or that otherwise may affect the agency. Legislative activity at NHDES (including the NHDES Legislative Calendar and NHDES Bill Tracking Matrix) can be found on the NHDES Legislation webpage.

To search for any Legislative Service Requests (LSRs) or bills, including those not being tracked by the Rivers Program or NHDES, visit the NH General Court website.

Local Advisory Committee Positions

Should an LAC have an opinion on proposed legislation, they have the opportunity to influence the bill through their support or opposition. LACs can support or oppose either a whole bill or parts of a bill. If they support or oppose part of a bill, we recommend proposing an amendment to change the bill text to something that the LAC supports.

Options for LAC positions on bills for legislative testimony include:

- Support.
- Support with amendment.
- Oppose.

Members of the New Hampshire Senate and House of Representatives are all private citizens who care about the thoughts and opinions of other citizens of New Hampshire. As such, they want to hear what people have to say about legislative matters. If you have something to say, don’t hesitate to speak up!
What LACs Can Do to Influence a Bill through Support or Opposition

Contact a Legislator and/or Sponsor(s) of a Bill:

State representatives and senators welcome phone calls or emails. You can find and contact your state representative or your state senator directly, and/or can also contact the sponsor(s) of the bill.

Testify at Hearings

LAC’s can nominate a representative to testify at a hearing on behalf of the LAC. LAC members can also testify at hearings as individual, private citizens of New Hampshire. In either case, it is important that whoever is testifying clearly identifies who they are representing (an LAC or themselves as private citizens), and whether the statements one is making are their personal opinions, those of the LAC as a whole, or those of another organization with which they might be involved. Those who will be providing testimony are required to sign in when they arrive. Committees typically only allow speakers three minutes to present their testimony, so keeping testimony brief and concise is recommended. Preparing written notes can be helpful to keep you on track. Any questions, comments, or discussion of the committee will not impact the allotted time an individual has to speak.

Submit Letters of Testimony in Person

An LAC representative can deliver letters of testimony in person. If doing so, be sure to make enough copies for each member of the committee. This information can be found by accessing the linked bill docket number in the NHDES Rivers Management and Protection Program legislative tracking spreadsheet, then clicking on the bill status, then clicking on “current committee,” selecting the name of the committee, then counting the committee officers, secretary, researcher, and committee members. Often the committee clerk will want two copies so that one can be retained with the committee’s records. Always be sure to have few extra copies on hand to share with sponsors or interested members of the audience. When you arrive, provide a copy of the letter to each of the committee members, officers, and staff BEFORE the hearing begins, as it can be difficult to distribute the letter after it has begun.

Submit Letters of Testimony by Email

An LAC can also email letters of testimony. This is an easy way of reaching all of the committee members, even those who may miss the hearing, and it is simple to copy the bill sponsor(s) and Rivers Program staff on your testimony at the same time. The webpage for each legislative committee (the page that lists all of the committee members and officers described above) includes a link to Email All Committee Members or Email Entire Committee.

Writing and Formatting Letters of Testimony

Customizing and personalizing letters of testimony can make them more impactful. Some organizations/committees use letterhead and list all of their members on their letters and some will simply state their organization/committee in the letter. Representatives will be receiving multiple pages of bill text, information, letters, etc. at every hearing, so the more concise you can make letters, the easier it will be for the committee to more clearly understand the message. As such, the first and last paragraphs of the letter are the most important, as oftentimes a legislator skimming a letter will read only the introduction and conclusion. As a result, attempt to state the LAC’s position (support, support with amendment, oppose) in the first sentence or two of the first paragraph and restate it in the concluding sentence or two in the last paragraph.

If there is an amendment, this can be formatted differently such as: “The (Name) River Local Advisory Committee (Acronym) appreciates the opportunity to comment on (House or Senate) Bill (Number) which provides for Local Advisory Committees to submit letters of testimony at legislative hearings. (Acronym) supports the bill but requests an amendment.

State Position: State why your group supports or opposes the bill here. Choose up to three strongest points that support your position and state them here. Conclude with something such as; (Acronym) (supports or opposes) (House or Senate) Bill (Number) because...

Amendment: If you are proposing/requesting an amendment, explain your support/opposition with the bill and then include a short, separate paragraph stating something such as: (Acronym) requests an amendment to (House or Senate) Bill (Number) because... As such, (Acronym) recommends the following amendment to (House or Senate) Bill (Number): (Strike the portion you wish to eliminate and add bold and italicized text to which you wish to include).

Example:
Amend RSA 000-A:00-a II (j) as inserted by section 2 of the bill:

ec: Sen(s). or Rep(s). Primary Sponsor
Sen(s). or Rep(s). Other Sponsors
(Name) River LAC Representatives
Local River Management Advisory Committee Chairs
Robert R. Scott, NHDES Commissioner
Tracie Sales, NHDES Rivers and Lakes Program Manager
Rivers Management Advisory Committee
First list the primary sponsor(s), then the senator(s) in alphabetical order, then the other sponsors. Sometimes there are only one or two, while other times there can be upwards of 15 representatives on one bill. All will need to be listed. You should also send a copy to each member of your LAC since the letter is being submitted on behalf of the entire LAC. Sharing letters of testimony with other LAC chairs can help let other LACs know what your LAC is doing and can encourage them to write their own letters of testimony and/or encourage collaborative efforts in the future with regards to legislative activity. The NHDES Rivers Management and Protection Program would appreciate receiving copies of letters of testimony to record the activities of the LACs and assist NHDES in writing their own letters of testimony that can also support LACs. Lastly, include other individuals/organizations/committees that you believe would appreciate a copy of the letter.
